Susan enjoys painting “en plein air” which means painting outdoors and experiencing the natural light and wind and colors of the landscape. She now paints in Florida in the winter and New England in the spring and summer. She has studied with Don Stone, George Nick, Judi Wagner and Paul George. She has had three one-man shows in Massachusetts and have exhibited at the Concord Art Association, The Emerson Umbrella, The Concord Library, the Cambridge Art Association, the Bonita Springs, Florida, Art League, the Fort Myers Beach Art Association and a show of the New England Watercolor Society. As graduate of Wellesley College and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, her work concentrates on color, patterns and the strong contrast between light and shadow.

Susan is a returning artist that is participating for a third time at Third on Canvas.
