

Mauricio Garay

Painting on 3rd Street South And 13th Avenue South at Eileen Fisher

Descended from a family with artistic tradition, Mauricio began to arouse his interest in art at an early age, with some artistic guidance received from his uncle Carlos Garay, an internationally recognized artist who painted beautiful sceneries of the Honduran countryside as well as its people's traditions.

Mauricio is a figurative and impressionist painter who was awarded the prize award of best artist in his country, he is a continuous and determined artist whose passion is art. Mauricio studied at The National University of Honduras. Impressionist in highlighting alleys, marketplaces, landscapes, cubist sceneries, seascapes and figures, his rich and vibrant colors are among his personal signature, fluent in his brushstrokes and characterized by mastering the use of the palette knife.

Mauricio is a returning artist that is participating in Third on Canvas for his third time.
