“There is no mystery when a viewer looks at my oil paintings. Starting with composition; the way I paint and lay down my colors; the lines, short brushstrokes, masses of color, my use of light and its reflections, point to impressionism. This is my way of seeing nature.” - Kathryn A. McMahon 2018

Kathryn McMahon has been awarded Master status of Women Artists of the West, Signature member of American Society of Marine Artists, American Impressionist Society Inc., Plein Air Artists Colorado and International Plein Air Painters. She is an artist member of the Salmangundi Club in New York, Copley Society of Art in Boston and Women Painters of the Southeast.

McMahon has published two fine art books and has been in many National and International Exhibitions and won numerous awards including Best in Show in Rocky Mountain National Park and Fort Myers Beach Art Association National Plein Air Event. She is a past VP of Women Artists of the West, and previously Regional Editor of the 1st Plein Air Magazine and Fine Art Connoisseur Magazine.
